

SLCTR/2008/015 - A study on anti-estrogen clomifene citrate and aromatase inhibitor letrozole in induction of ovulation, in WHO group II anovulatory subjects, and in augmentation of ovulation in ovulatory infertility

Progress report 1- Submitted date: 10th November 2009

Currently the trial is in progress. It was commenced in March 2009 and currently 63 subjects have been recruited to the phase 1 of the study and 37 subjects in the phase II of the study. The study is aimed to be completed by March 2010.

No abstract presentations or publications have been made from the study so far and the final results are planned to be published as an original research article.